Thursday 23 rd April

Hi. You can't imagine what I saw today. I was in my garden. It was the afternoon when the sun was high. I suddenly saw a little pink nose twitching through a small hole. I thought it could be a Rat but then I realised he or she had a blue leather jacket on and a tie. He had brown silky fur and sparkling eyes. It was weird, really weird. I asked who he was. He told me his name was Rat. I was then more confused that he could talk. His behaviour was strange because he kept on whistling a lot. He ran around a few times then finally went back down the hole. I wonder if he will come back, I hope you can see him if he does.

Yours faithfully
