

Can you finish one of these limericks in your own way?

There once was a young boy named Fred

Who just couldn't get out of bed.

He wriggled around and bumped his head

Words to rhyme with Fred - said, fed, red, bled, bread, head,

There was once a pretty young pig

Who decided to dance... a jig

She skipped down the road

Words to rhyme with pig - big, swig, wig, jig, sprig, twig

There once was a very big shark

Who suddenly started to bark.

He swam up and down and saw an underwater park!

Words to rhyme with shark - mark, dark, park, spark, lark

Here is a lined template for you to write your poem on. You don't need to print off this template you can just write your poem on a piece of paper or type it into Microsoft Word (you could then email this to me).

Underneath are some more structured templates to support you. You only need to do one but you might want to do more!

---

There once was an old lady called Kate:

---

Her friend Jack thought she was great.

---

Her good plate

---

until there nothing left on

---

my plate.