Toad In Prison

Toad is the richest animal in all of merry old England. He also has a sweet desire for new things so, very unsurprisingly, he got into the horrible habit of stealing motor cars and driving them wildly with no licence.

Things like this have happened many other times and he's been in hospital three times, in jail 7 times and as for the fines, it's horrible!! As you can obviously realise this is a terrible crime so this time he has been put into prison for a round twenty years.

Terrible Toad, as the police call him, is now at this very moment, whimpering in jail. If the police catch him doing any crimes again they will be dealing with him very seriously.

Toad has been put into jail for 12 months for the stealing, three years for the furious driving and fifteen years for driving away and being disobedient to the police so that adds up to nineteen years. The Clerk said ' So you had better make it a round twenty years and be on the safe side.'

Mr Badger, one of Toad's friends was asked how he felt about his friend acting like this. He replied with, 'Oh it feels terrible, just terrible my own friend doing such a thing!'

Toad has got what he deserved,
So now he will remain in jail for 20 years. Will he ever learn?
