

We should all buy Fairtrade products:

We should buy Fairtrade products as it offers help to countries that are less fortunate.

For example it will ensure that all producers get a fair price and pay and get a social premium, where money is invested in schools and hospitals as well as giving farmers a set price so they can plan for the future without putting budgets too high or low.

Fairtrade also encourages sustainable farming, which means the environment is kept safe.

So in conclusion buying Fairtrade products is a brilliant investment, even if it costs a little bit more.